Water is Dancing at the SNFCC!

Water is a key element of the Stavros Niarchos Foundation Cultural Center. This is far from accidental, as the SNFCC is located near the Phaleron Bay, present-day Faliro, one of the oldest ancient ports of Athens. From early on, the stated goal of SNFCC's designer, Renzo Piano, was to restore the connection of the Kallithea area (Kallithea literally meaning beautiful view in Greek) with the water, both visually, by providing a view to the sea, and architecturally.

SNFCC's foremost water installation, the Canal communicates directly with the sea. An underwater pipe system provides a constant supply of seawater. Being 400 meters long, 30 meters wide and 70 to 150 centimeters deep, it has already become an SNFCC functional landmark.

A new, impressive installation was recently built at the Canal thanks to the initiative and funding of the Stavros Niarchos Foundation: a complex of 59 vertical water jets in line with the architectural design by the Renzo Piano Building Workshop, coupled with 10 swiveling fountains. Located at the level of the Agora, the fountain installation creates spectacular displays both during the day and at night-time. The installation is equipped with latest-generation underwater LED lighting. Throughout August, there will be daily water shows, based on programmed sequences designed especially for the SNFCC.

It goes without saying that the operation of the Dancing Fountains in no way affects sailing and kayaking: Classes for children and adults continue in August.

At the SNFCC, water is not limited to the Canal, however: The Water Jets at the Stavros Niarchos Park have already become a popular destination for children and will continue to provide much-needed refreshment throughout August.

Water also runs through SNFCC's programming, as Wednesdays in August are dedicated to this element: Follow water paths, explore shipwrecks, appreciate seashells. Discover, while having fun, how to enjoy the water safely and learn all about the seabed and its protection, by participating in exciting activities.

Finally, as if all that were not enough, the last weekend of the month you can join the event "Soak'em All!" - a series of games with lots of water!

Admission to all these events is free thanks to an exclusive grant from the Stavros Niarchos Foundation (SNF).

August 2019 marks the third anniversary since SNFCC opened its doors to the public. During these three years, we had the pleasure to receive 11 million visits. Thank you for the love that you have shown SNFCC!

Ghost Nets

Leaving dry land behind for a while, we dive deep into the sea, looking for left or lost ghost nets, which haunt the seabed and ensnare fish, turtles, dolphins and other species.

How did they end up there? What problems do they cause to the sea bottom? What can we do?

Through original activities, children discover the causes and effects of ghost nets; they also get an opportunity to chat with a technical diver from Ghost Fishing Greece, an organization engaged in removing lost fishing gear from the sea.

Starry Nights: Planets and Constellations

In August, the event series inviting the public to enjoy unique thematic evenings under the stars continues, in collaboration with the National Observatory of Athens (NSA). In a talk and astronomical observation using NSA's telescopes in the South Paths, we observe the celestial dome: the Sun, the Moon, the planets, stars and constellations, and how they are identified in this specific time of year.

In our first August meeting (01/08), we discover the planets Jupiter and Saturn, their similarities and differences to Earth, and their satellites; in the second (08/08), we learn all about the life, death and colors of the stars, the constellations and the sky.

Sunlight turns into space!

In this workshop on architecture and solar energy, architectural space manifests itself on the path of sunlight. Inspired by SNFCC's energy canopy designed by Renzo Piano, children get acquainted with the concepts of sustainable architecture.

Shading, cooling and solar energy conversion are woven into a new and exciting story through the eyes of children, who build a small-scale canopy model of their own.

What better to do on a Friday than go dancing? Feel the rhythm in movement, but also learn to appreciate it in the art of sculpture. Discover another aspect of dance through Diaghilev's Ballets Russes and create artworks inspired by dance. Become acquainted with the Afro-Brazilian practice of Capoeira and feel the power of movement as you practice the steps of Greek folk dances, Swing dancing or romantic Argentine tango.

Friday: Dance, Dance, Dance

Sculpture and Dancing: From Material to Movement

Throughout the centuries, sculpture has been inspired by the human body and movement. Using various forms and compositions, sculpture was able to express the immutable and the monumental, as well as the ephemeral and the abstract.

This workshop invites the public to explore the interconnection of sculpture and dance through the use of simple, everyday materials, such as paper, wood, wire and plaster – this is a fun opportunity for participants to explore the history of art.

In our August meetings, we initiate a dialogue with the Constructivist, Bauhaus and Abstract art movements.

Taking as our starting point masterpieces by celebrated artists (Giacometti, Calder, Noguchi, Sklavos and Chillida), we experiment with different sculpture materials and make figures out of paper, glue and light wood.

Dance Differently: From Aristophanes to Keith Haring

Starting with an overview and the highlights in the evolution of dance – from Greek drama and Aristophanes to Diaghilev's Ballets Russes and Keith Haring's dancing figures – this workshop invites you to explore the intersection of the visual arts and dance, creating a different art piece each time, inspired by a dance-themed artwork.

Parade

August is dedicated to Parade, the extraordinary ballet that premiered in 1917 in Paris, performed by Sergei Diaghilev's Ballets Russes.

Inspired by a publicity parade in which circus artists try to attract an audience to an indoor performance, it was an astounding, radical piece, which became associated with the emergence of the Surrealist movement.

Picking our favorite characters and using cardboard, fabric and paints, we'll create costume items and produce our very own Parade.

Afea, George Zongolopoulos

Greek artist George Zongolopoulos presented the sculpture Afea at the XXe Salon de la Jeune Sculpture in Paris in 1968, while it also featured at an open-air exhibition at Palais Royal in the same year. The sculpture is one of the few works in which the artist chooses to paint the metal he uses.

Being a painter himself, but also sharing the same studio with his wife, painter Eleni Paschalidou-Zongolopoulou, George Zongolopoulos was very keen on experimenting with ways to translate a sculpture into a sketch or painting, and vice versa.

The sculpture is exhibited courtesy of the George Zongolopoulos Foundation.

Free Shuttle Bus

For convenient access to and from SNFCC, daily transportation by shuttle bus is available to visitors free of charge. A shuttle bus bearing the SNFCC logo departs from Syntagma Square (intersection with Ermou Street), with a stopover at the Syggrou-Fix Metro station (Syggrou Avenue), and arrives at the SNFCC.

Every Sunday, between 10.30-12.30, the shuttle bus rides only between SNFCC and the Syggrou-Fix Metro Station since Syntagma is not accessible because of the Change of Guard ceremony.

In case of special traffic regulations the timetable may change.

The shuttle bus is accessible to people in wheelchairs, following prior scheduling via phone.

For further information and timetables visit SNFCC.org or call at 216 8091000.

BP, as SNFCC's Mobility Partner, supports the operation of the shuttle bus.

Sculpture and Dance: From Material to Movement

Throughout the centuries, sculpture has been inspired by the human body and movement. Using various forms and compositions, sculpture was able to express the immutable and the monumental, but also the ephemeral and the abstract.

This workshop invites the public to explore the interconnection of sculpture and dance through the use of simple, everyday materials, such as paper, wood, wire and plaster – this is a fun opportunity for participants to explore the history of art.

In our August meetings, we initiate a dialogue with the Constructivist, Bauhaus and Abstract art movements. Taking as our starting point masterpieces by celebrated artists (Giacometti, Calder, Noguchi, Sklavos and Chillida), we experiment with different sculpture materials and make figures out of paper, glue and light wood.

Ceramics Lab: From the Tile Maker to the Potter

Pottery is an art involving earth, water and fire. Examples of antique pottery and contemporary design stimulate workshop participants to a hands-on exploration of pottery making and decorating techniques, while learning interesting tidbits about the art of pottery. Together, children and grown-ups use unformed, natural clay to build forms by hand, translating imagination into art through creativity.

Human figures painted on clay:
In August, children and adult companions explore the grandeur of ancient Greek pottery and the art and craft of the potters of classical times. Let yourself be carried away by the stories told in clay about everyday life in antiquity and be inspired into making your own clay vases.

The Tools of Transformation: Patterns

A workshop by set and costume designer Angelos Mentis.

In August, The Tools of Transformation workshop series returns, this time exploring a basic structural element of composition: patterns.

A meeting inspired by Geometric-period patterns as well as by the primary contrasts found in geometry and nature. Using collage and inspiration from nature, art and geometry, we create this basic structural component of any image. A game of contrasts between white and black, light and darkness. Through freedom and imagination, we seek different ways to create repetitive forms and make unique, personal decorative patterns.

Dance Differently: From Aristophanes to Keith Haring

Starting with an overview and the highlights in the evolution of dance – from Greek drama and Aristophanes to Diaghilev's Ballets Russes and Keith Haring's dancing figures – this new workshop invites you to explore the intersection of the visual arts and dance, creating a different art piece each time, inspired by a dance-themed artwork.

Parade

August is dedicated to Parade, the extraordinary ballet that premiered in 1917 in Paris, performed by Sergei Diaghilev's Ballets Russes.

Inspired by a publicity parade in which circus artists try to attract an audience to an indoor performance, it was an astounding, radical piece, which became associated with the emergence of the Surrealist movement.

Picking our favorite characters and using cardboard, fabric and paints, we'll create costume items and produce our very own Parade.
