The main stage of the Greek National Opera of a square area of 33,000m² is one of the most important contemporary halls for lyrical performances internationally, boasting state-of-the-art technological features, impeccable design and perfect acoustics.

The reception areas are distributed over 5 levels, providing access to the internal galleries and balconies of the Stavros Niarchos Hall. From the roof (24 m) a moving aluminum and fabric sculpture is suspended, created by the Japanese artist Susumu Shingu.
