On May Day, we celebrate the arrival of spring in Stavros Niarchos Park, with plenty of music, dancing, games and springtime activities for all! Jazz Chronicles welcome the Socratis Sinopoulos Quartet on 05/05, as well as spontaneous compositions and free improvisations with The 3rd Man Element on 12/05. In two lectures on 10 and 24/05, the classical philologist, translator and playwright John Lignadis guides us through the topography of Plato’s Symposium. SNFCC Cosmos on 20/05 presents, for the first time in Greece, the multi-instrumentalist, composer and producer Ólafur Arnalds, in an evocative live concert at the Stavros Niarchos Hall. On 24/05, Manolis Famellos arrives at the Great Lawn, with a large “electric sound construction” for the season’s first big Parklife concert. An ideal start to this year’s Park Your Cinema, Sleeping Beauty on 25/05 and The Wizard of Oz on 26/05 meet in their common place of origin: the world of fairy tale. 27/05: SNFCC presents the day conference Exploring the Human Brain, featuring panel discussions, workshops and screenings that illustrate the workings of the brain. 28/05: The popular science guru Simon Singh is coming to the SNFCC. Music Escapades: In May, the concert series that covers the latest developments in the Greek indie music scene returns to the outdoors, featuring Obi Prins & The Dream Warriors on 18/05 and singer-songwriter Nalyssa Green on 31/05 at the Panoramic Steps. The De Differentia – Hate and Otherness exhibition continues through 10/05. The George Zonglopoulos – The Vision of Public Sculpture exhibition continues through 31/05, accompanied by workshops, lectures and guided tours.
May is here, and the Stavros Niarchos Foundation Cultural Center welcomes it for yet another year at the Stavros Niarchos Park. After scheduled maintenance in April, the park is ready to celebrate May Day with The Burger Project and The Jaguar Bombs – and these are just two of the events and activities planned for the day (more on p02–05).

Manolis Famellos electrifies the Great Lawn on 24/05 (p06); while during the 25-26/05 weekend, Park Your Cinema, SNFCC’s outdoor screening series, is back with The Wizard of Oz and Sleeping Beauty (p14–15).

The rest of the Park is also busy with events throughout the month. The Sundays in the Park series continues, with music, education, athletic and environmental activities (more on p16–17).

Dance classes are being offered in different areas of the Park (p18); in collaboration with Regeneration & Progress NGO, popular and new sports programs for all ages and all fitness levels fill the Great Lawn, the Pine Grove, the new Outdoor Games Area and of course the Running Track (p23–27).

Finally, on 19/05 in the Mediterranean Garden, we celebrate the European Natura 2000 Day and learn about protected areas in Greece (p22).

Admission to all these events is free thanks to an exclusive grant by the Stavros Niarchos Foundation.
The Sonics and 5ive, Elvis and The Offspring have in common? The Jaguar Bombs mix dynamic rock 'n' roll rhythms and pop oldies on Stavros Niarchos Park's Great Lawn.

In a program inspired by the aesthetics of rockabilly, surf and garage, and paying homage to pop hymns of adolescence and other guilty music pleasures, The Jaguar Bombs cover timeless tunes that have been on everyone's lips, augmented by songs that make up the soundtrack of our teenage parties.

The Burger Project are back at the SNFCC! Let's welcome springtime together, in a blistering live concert for children young and old.

Performing children's songs and funny stories in a highly interactive show, The Burger Project invite the audience to join in music and movement games, and dance their hearts out.

A Walk in the Park

Director: Georgina Kakoudaki
Guide: Michalis Syriopoulos

Wednesday 01/05
11.30, 12.30, 14.30, 15.30

Meeting point: VISITORS CENTER 23

Whether you are already familiar with the Stavros Niarchos Park or not, this new series of guided tours will make you see the landscape in a different way. Guided by artists, visitors will enjoy a walk in which nature, history, poetry and personal storytelling make for a different experience each time, under the guidance of director Georgina Kakoudaki.

In May, our tour guide will be Michalis Syriopoulos. A graduate of Vassilis Diamantopoulos Drama School, he made his stage acting debut in 2008. For his acting during the 2017/18 season, he received the Dimitris Harem Drama Award in March 2019.
Starting off with his latest album, I Epohi ton Skoupidion, a large ensemble joins Manolis Famellos on the Great Lawn; its core members have been part of the group that has been working on Famellos’ releases for over a decade now.

At the SNFCC, they will perform songs spanning his entire music career, foregrounding the electric-sound element.

Having developed a shared music language, all the band members on this performance have been his constant companions in his musical adventure – from the earliest glimpse of a composition to the completion of each album for release and to the last note in each concert.

With a great electric live performance, an “electric sound construction” to quote the artist, Manolis Famellos goes onstage at the Great Lawn of the Stavros Niarchos Park for this season’s first big Parklife concert.

SNFCC’s Cosmos concert series presents, for the first time in Greece, Ólafur Arnalds, a multi-instrumentalist, composer and producer, in a unique performance at the Stavros Niarchos Hall.

One of the most gifted contemporary classical music artists and composers of his generation, Ólafur Arnalds combines strings and piano with electronic sounds in striking manner, creating ambient symphonic compositions that evoke journeys to Icelandic landscapes. His experimental compositions introduce classical music to a wide audience, broadening our musical horizons.

Since 2007, Ólafur Arnalds has released four solo albums; he has also collaborated with preeminent music, dance and film artists, including Sigur Rós and Nils Frahm. In 2014, his inspired music for films and television series earned him a BAFTA Award for Original Television Music for the soundtrack of the popular British series Broadchurch.

His latest album, Re:Member (2018), which he will perform in his SNFCC concert, builds upon a mosaic of influences by many different music genres, translated into the artist’s own idiom and keeping listeners on their toes by evoking new and exciting feelings.

Nurtured by Greek traditional and Byzantine music, enriched by elements of classical music and improvisation, steeped in jazz and contemporary music, the unmistakable sound of Sokratis Sinopoulos Quartet combines the primeval sound of the lyra and the piano trio.

Formed in 2011, the quartet first began by performing its own versions of music from the Greek traditions before focusing on original compositions. The material was released in Eight Winds, in 2015, followed by the quartet’s sophomore release, Metamodal, in March 2019.

For their SNFCC concert, Sokratis Sinopoulos Quartet will present their latest release along with numbers from their first album, in a spirt of improvisation and strong interplay.

Sunday 05/05 | 21:00

Exploring spontaneous composition and free improvisation, The 3rd Man Element is going on stage at the SNFCC, in an open-ended music collaboration.

A different artist each time joins them as the “3rd man” to ignite fresh, exciting music-making along with the two core members.

Three distinctive musicians join each other onstage to give a single, unique, unrepeatable live performance of spontaneous composition and free improvisation.

For the SNFCC live concert, David Lynch (tenor and soprano saxophone, flute) and Takis Paterelis (tenor saxophone) will be taking turns as the “3rd man.”

Music Escapades: Prins Obi & The Dream Warriors

Saturday 18/05 | 21:00

Music Escapades presents Prins Obi & The Dream Warriors, who perform their self-titled album released in 2018, at the SNFCC, as well as tracks from Prins Obi’s earlier two releases.

The Dream Warriors accompany Prins Obi on an inner voyage of high expressive power, in a psychedelic audiovisual stage set. The sensual textures, the resonating presence of instruments, the musicians’ expressions and movements, the evocative lighting – the unique atmosphere of their live appearances – are all elements that contribute to the band’s unmistakable identity. With their strong personal presence, they take us along on a journey to music that seems to come from another era, in a retro style imbued with postmodern and contemporary elements.

The album to be performed at the SNFCC, Prins Obi & The Dream Warriors, is the debut of the Athenian underground supergroup and Prins Obi’s third release after Age of Tourlou, released, playing on the contrasting concepts of sinking and blooming. At the SNFCC, Nalyssa Green and her band will unravel the singer-songwriter’s musical universe, reminding us that summer is not yet over. On the last evening of May, along with Nalyssa Green, we sing goodbye to spring while getting ready for the arrival of summer, with a concert at the Panoramic Steps.

Self-taught on keyboards, guitar, accordion and theremin, Nalyssa Green is a composer, songwriter and singer active in the Greek indie music scene since the late 2000s. She has released three albums and since 2014 she has composed original music for the theater. Spanning a wide range of pop styles, Nalyssa Green’s musical identity is characterized by evocative vocals and prominent electronic sounds.

In autumn 2018, her first Greek-language album, Bloom, was released, playing on the contrasting concepts of sinking and blooming. At the SNFCC, Nalyssa Green and her band will unravel the singer-songwriter’s musical universe, reminding us that summer will be back to take us by the hand.

We Create Art Together: Sculptures Touch the Sky

Inspired by studying the anatomy and form of George Zongolopoulos' sculptures T.I.T.F., Poseidon and Five Circles to appreciate their balance of structure, delicacy of connection and ethereal composition, workshop participants will each build a towering sculpture of their own.

Taking the great sculptor's work as our starting point, we will produce our own sculptural complex, using cut-outs, microsculpture, origami, collage and assemblage, as well as 3D wire construction in a wide variety of materials to construct art objects with reference to George Zongolopoulos' artistic investigation and practice, so as to realize the dynamics of these public art installations.

Papaioannou: Thoughts on Architecture and the City

Tuesday 21/05, 19:00-21:00
The Physical and Spiritual World of Architectural Space

In May, the architecture lecture series by Tassis Papaioannou, Professor of Architecture, continues, discussing Greek and international architecture in contribution to the debate on the quality of architectural space.

Architecture and the city remain in constant interplay over time. Their relationship is fluid and dynamic, mercurial and unpredictable. The contemporary Greek city changes rapidly, expanding out of control, with barely any planning, reflecting, in space, the mode of operation of post war Greek society.
We live at a time when the explosive growth in information dissemination has blurred the boundaries and created new realities. Dominant images and views impose new models in everyday life. Today, more than ever, a debate on architecture and urbanism is indispensable.

Tassis Papaioannou is professor in Section 1, Compositions, School of Architecture, NTUA; his joint architectural practice with architect Dimitris Lastos produces studies for private and public projects, and has earned a large number of architectural competition awards. His architectural designs have been extensively published in the Greek and international bibliography, and featured in major architectural exhibitions. He has published articles and commentaries in books, periodicals and newspapers, as well as books.

The event includes workshops for children, adolescents and adults, in which participants will have the opportunity to learn from experienced neuroscientists about the fundamental operating principles of the brain and neural networks. A screening will also take place, of the documentary film Exploring the Brain - From the First Steps to Twenty First Century Neuroscience. The film presents an overview of the landmarks in the history of neuroscience and traces the shifts in the perception of brain function from prehistoric times to the present day. John Lignades:
A Topography of Plato’s Symposium

The two lectures on Plato’s Symposium. After an introduction to the treatise and its main themes, there will be a reading of excerpts (in Modern Greek translation), followed by a highly accessible discussion and a Q&A session with the audience.

The lectures will focus on the speeches by Aristophanes, Socrates and Alcibiades, attempting to highlight different approaches to Eros, such as the mythical-allegorical, the philosophical and the pragmatic. The main objective of these lectures is to familiarize the public with a supreme achievement in ancient Greek literature and to explore the problematic arising from the projection of ideas of the past to contemporary men and women.

John Lignades holds a PhD in Classical Philology.

Simultaneous translation into the Greek Sign Language will be provided.

A Lecture by Simon Singh:
The popular science guru is coming to the SNFCC.

The famous theoretical physicist, journalist, BAFTA awarded documentary filmmaker, and best-selling author, Simon Singh is coming to the SNFCC to give a lecture in which he will introduce the audience to the universe of his award-winning books.

His first book, Fermat’s Last Theorem, was translated into 32 languages and familiarized millions of readers around the world with the wonders of mathematics. In his second book, The Code Book, he revealed the secrets of cryptography while in the third, Big Bang, he dealt with the theory of the universe. His book Trick or Treatment? has raised inconvenient questions about alternative medicine. His latest, The Simpsons and Their Mathematical Secrets, illustrates how the creators of the long-running animated comedy The Simpsons seek to pique viewer interest in mathematics and science.

Simon Singh studied physics at Imperial College and completed his doctoral thesis on experimental particle physics at Cambridge University and CERN. In 1996, he directed for BBC series Horizon one of the most successful documentaries ever screened on British TV, about the mathematician Andrew Wiles’ proof of Fermat’s notorious last theorem, for which Singh won a BAFTA for best documentary. He went on to write popular-science books that became international best-sellers. Currently living in London, Singh is a regular contributor to The Guardian and lectures all over the world.

Simultaneous interpretation to Greek will be provided.

The World of Fairy Tale

PARK YOUR CINEMA

The perfect start for the new season, two legendary films that celebrate decades of popularity! The 80th anniversary of the premiere of The Wizard of Oz and the 60th anniversary of the animated Sleeping Beauty meet in their shared homeland - the world of fairy tale - to entertain young and old.

Programming: Elias Fragoulis

Sleeping Beauty (1959)

Saturday 23/05 | 21:00

The evil witch Maleficent curses Princess Aurora to die on her 16th birthday. The spell can only be broken by the arrival of a prince, but no one knows when or how. The 16th Disney animated feature film, it is an adaptation of the classic tale by French author Charles Perrault. The lush and stylized designs (particularly in the background) alienated the audience of the time, and the film flopped at the box office, forcing the studio to stop productions based on fairy tales (the next was Little Mermaid, only in 1989). The music score includes mainly covers and arrangements of Pyotr Ilyich Tchaikovsky’s music for the ballet of the same title - another bold, high-quality choice by the pioneer Walt Disney.

Director: Clyde Geronimi

The Wizard of Oz (1939)

Sunday 24/05 | 21:00

A terrible tornado sends Dorothy and her family farm spinning in the air. Will she find happiness “over the rainbow” by following the yellow brick road to the Emerald City, where she can ask the Wizard to help her get back home? Based on L. Frank Baum’s children’s book The Wonderful Wizard of Oz (1900), this beloved classic was MGM’s most expensive production at that time and failed to make a profit for the studios until the 1949 re-release. Justly regarded as one of the greatest films of all time, according to the Library of Congress it is the most watched film in the history of cinema. The film won the Academy Award for Best Original Song (for “Over the Rainbow,” of course); it was only due to the refusal of 20th Century Fox to give Shirley Temple as a loan to MGM that Judy Garland was cast as Dorothy. As Victor Fleming hastily replaced Cukor in directing Gone with the Wind, it was King Vidor who finished the filming (mainly the sepia-toned Kansas sequences). The Wizard of Oz was among the first 25 films that inaugurated the American National Film Registry list in 1989.

On International Mother’s Day, Sunday 12/05, the concluding lecture in the series The Emergence of Life examines the transition to motherhood. Early in their lives, women learn that their bodies are able to host new life. Whether or not they bear children, all women have to come to terms with motherhood as a possibility, as desire, as reality.

What questions do women who choose to become mothers ask themselves? What is it like for modern-day women to experience the transition to motherhood? How does a woman think and feel during pregnancy, as well as following childbirth, about her body, her relationship with her child, her partner, her career – her life in general? What does adaptation to life with a child involve and how can women best prepare for this transition? What are the mental challenges faced during pregnancy and after childbirth, and how to deal with them? What kind of support is required so that modern-day mothers may enjoy motherhood and their personal lives?

My First Studio: The Spring According to Van Gogh and Matisse

Celebrated artworks provide the opportunity for children and parents to take a journey through art! Children create their own unique artworks inspired by different styles, sitters and topics, and experiment with a variety of materials. It’s a fun way to express themselves, interact and socialize, introducing themselves to the colorful world of art history.

In May, we celebrate the most fragrant month of spring, taking a walk alongside Van Gogh and Matisse in green fields and scented gardens, which inspired these artists to paint the most celebrated masterpieces of all time.

Guided by these artists and their lush springtime palette, children embark on a journey through the world of art, in the most multisensory manner possible; they learn about the plant life cycle, become gardeners and paint using an abundance of flowers. They make May Day wreaths using recyclable materials, chrysanthemum prints and evoke colorful gardens using collage and mixed media.

Baby’s Arts & Crafts: Our First Spring

In a calm, fun environment, babies acquire their earliest gross motor skills, discover colors, develop their observation skills, explore their bodies and the world. Through inspired sensory play, together with parents, they create works of art to cherish and have experiences of smooth socialization. We play with hand and foot prints, and make decorative garlands, frames, art on canvas and baby’s first sensory toys using original materials.

In May’s sessions, we continue to participate in the big celebration of nature, capturing the beauty of the season’s scents, colors and flowers!

SNFCC’s Meeting Point continues in May, filled with dance and music for teenagers! The second edition, titled Choose and Follow, invites participants to assess their skills as team leaders and team players. While they’re at it, they develop essential music and dance skills – how to fit into a team, or an ensemble, how to become a team, or an ensemble, how to become a team.

The methodology team leaders, depending on what the situation demands. The methodology of this skill-building activity is based on a physical and auditory exploration of the notions of predictability and unpredictability.

Capoeira for Families

Is it a sport, a dance style, a martial art? Capoeira is all of these things and more! You are invited by SNFCC to experience this popular Afro-Brazilian practice and learn how to perform offensive and defensive moves while maintaining control. Coordinated, rhythmic, non-aggressive motion promotes concentration and energizes body and mind. There are no winners or losers in Capoeira. My First Studio: The Spring According to Van Gogh and Matisse

Celebrated artworks provide the opportunity for children and parents to take a journey through art! Children create their own unique artworks inspired by different styles, sitters and topics, and experiment with a variety of materials. It’s a fun way to express themselves, interact and socialize, introducing themselves to the colorful world of art history.

In May, we celebrate the most fragrant month of spring, taking a walk alongside Van Gogh and Matisse in green fields and scented gardens, which inspired these artists to paint the most celebrated masterpieces of all time.

Guided by these artists and their lush springtime palette, children embark on a journey through the world of art, in the most multisensory manner possible; they learn about the plant life cycle, become gardeners and paint using an abundance of flowers. They make May Day wreaths using recyclable materials, chrysanthemum prints and evoke colorful gardens using collage and mixed media.

Theater Design: The Tools of Transformation

A workshop by set and costume designer Angelos Mentis

Theater – the reflection of life in the mirror of imagination – conjures through its magic filters figures of mortals, gods and demons, in a wonderful, inexhaustible variety. Recognizable everyday beings, creatures deformed by extreme emotions – tragic, majestic, terrifying, dangerous, idiosyncratic, eccentric, funny, ridiculous, cute, fantastic. Deities, titans, heroes, tyrants, elves, spirits, satyrs, beauties, monsters, birds, frogs, dragons, witches, jesters, cunning servants, arrogant masters, loving couples, perpetrators and victims.

What is our own visual understanding of a play? How do we approach and flesh out a part? What do we imagine it to look like? How do we nurture imagination and harness its transformative power creatively? How can art and nature help in this? How do we encourage sensitivity and freedom, which children naturally display during playtime? What would our imaginary stage set, our imaginary actors, our own theater production look like?

By mixing up images, materials and props, we will develop our own vision for characters that are very different in style and personality, in space and time from each other.

Theocharis Sakellaridis Satanerie

“Satyric phantasmagoria” in a prologue and two acts

Theocharis Sakellaridis, on top form and adapting his own original idea, mixes romantic arias with folk songs, “embibekis” songs, blues and footsteps, satirising the timeless impurity rampant in Greek society through the story of Andreas, a miserable and honest “everyman”, who chooses to vice over virtue after receiving a personal guided tour to the hereafter by… Satan himself!

Conductor - Arrangement: Khairouny Goyos
Director: Alexandros Efklidis, Dimitris Dinopolous

Spyros Louis Cup

Conceived and designed by Michel Bréal for the champion of the first Marathon race – the Greek runner Spyros Louis – the Silver Cup was awarded at the first modern Olympic Games in Athens in 1896; today, it is on permanent display at the SNFCC.

This historic item was acquired by the Stavros Niarchos Foundation when it became available for sale by the runner’s grandson at Christie’s. As soon as the Cup was acquired, the SNFCC committed to making it accessible to the public, keeping it permanently on display at the SNFCC. Until then, over 3.5 million visitors had already admired the Cup when it was displayed at the Acropolis Museum in Athens and at the Olympic Museum in Lausanne.

Guided tours of the Stavros Niarchos Park, which recently won the first prize at the European Garden Awards and is the largest public Mediterranean garden in the world, are conducted daily.

Workshops for Adults:

Springtime Jewelry in Liquid Glass

A new workshop starts in May for designing and producing springtime jewelry in liquid glass; the workshop will provide participants with both a theoretical background on jewelry and a practical, hands-on experience of making and appreciating jewelry.

We will start off the creative process with a walk in Stavros Niarchos Park, where participants will pick a leaf or a fruit, which they will cover with transparent wrap to preserve. In a process of experimentation and successive steps, simple materials from the park will be transformed into unique handmade jewelry for participants to take home as a reminder of the skills acquired and inspiration drawn from the flowering park at this lovely time of year.

Tuesday 14 & 21/05

18:00-20:00 | KIDS LAB

Members-only event – up to 30 participants per workshop

Gardens and Their Secrets: The Countryside Garden

There are gardens that bring us back to our childhood, gardens in which we find ourselves in dreams, gardens we have admired in paintings or films, and gardens in which we live and love.

Every garden has its own needs, which vary depending on its environment. The aim of this workshop is to familiarize participants with different microclimates, to enable them to choose the appropriate plants, compose foliage, and learn how to manage a garden, respecting the natural resources and ensuring sustainability.

Tuesday 28/05

11:00-19:00 | VEGETABLE GARDEN

The Theater Design:

The Tools of Transformation

Theater - the reflection of life in the mirror of imagination - conjures through its magic filters figures of mortals, gods and demons, in a wonderful, inexhaustible variety. Recognizable everyday beings, creatures deformed by extreme emotions - tragic, majestic, terrifying, dangerous, idiosyncratic, eccentric, funny, ridiculous, cute, fantastical. Deities, titans, heroes, tyrants, elves, spirits, satyrs, beauties, monsters, birds, frogs, dragon-ones, witches, jesters, cunning servants, arrogant masters, loving couples, perpetrators and victims.

What is our own visual understanding of a play? How do we approach and flesh out a part? What do we imagine it to look like? How do we nurture imagination and harness its transformative power creatively? How can art and nature help in this? How do we encourage sensitivity and freedom, which children naturally display during playtime? What would our imaginary stage set, our imaginary actors, our own theater productions look like?

By mixing up images, materials and props, we will develop our own vision for characters that are very different in style and personality, in space and time from each other.
